Archbishop Bayley, in a circular letter of the date of January 2, at the earnest request of the Catholic bishops of the United States, appointed General Charles Ewing, of Washington, a commissioner to act at the seat of government in behalf of the Indian Catholic missions, specially at the Indian department, were interested parties have, it is alleged, herecofore made gross representations in reference thereto. General Ewing is now at his post. In a circular letter written by him he says he will per-form the duties required of him without compensation or fees.

Mr. Benjamin P. Avery, of California, nominated by the President for minister to China, has long been a leading journalist of the Pacific coast. He was for a time editor of the San Francisco Bulletin, and is now the conductor of the Overland Monthly. The President made his appointment at the request of Senator Sargent, although Secretary Fish was very anxious that it should be given to Mr. Geo. F. Seward, pephew of the late Secretary Seward, and United States consul general at Shanghai.

At the suggestion of Governor Kemper, the Legislature has passed a law limiting the amount of clerical assistance employed in the executive office. As the law now stands, the Governor is expressly limited to two thousand dollars a year as the maximum of all the clerical expenses in his office, and the office of paid aid-decamp is abolished.

In the case of Rev. Tunis Titus Kendrick. of Brooklyn, charged with conduct unbecoming a clergyman, the committee of inquiry before which the charges were tried have brought in a verdict of guilty, and recommended that the pastor be indefinitely suspended.
